CITY OF FREDERICK NEWS

Joint Statement Urging a Pause on Frederick County Courthouse Relocation

2026-11-19 Source: City of Frederick

The following is a joint statement from Mayor Michael O'Connor and Council President César Díaz on behalf of the City of Frederick regarding County plans to relocate Frederick County Courthouse services.

The City of Frederick strongly opposes relocating the Frederick County Courthouse and its judicial services out of downtown Frederick.
We believe such a decision would be a serious mistake with lasting consequences for our community, our local economy and the delivery of essential government services.

For generations, the courthouse has been an anchor of downtown Frederick. Its presence supports local businesses, brings employees and visitors downtown, and connects residents with the government institutions that serve them.
Removing that activity would have significant economic consequences at a time when the City, State and private sector are investing hundreds of millions of dollars in downtown Frederick's future.

The City and County have long recognized the importance of keeping core government services downtown, including through a joint resolution adopted in 1994 and efforts to retain the Board of Education downtown.
The City's recent investment in a downtown headquarters for the Frederick Police Department reflects that same commitment.

What is particularly concerning is that the City has not been provided with the information necessary to understand the full consequences of relocating the courthouse.
We have seen no comprehensive economic impact analysis, no meaningful assessment of what removing judicial services would mean for downtown businesses, and no accounting of the additional operational costs that could be imposed on other government agencies, including the City of Frederick.

A decision involving hundreds of millions of dollars deserves a thorough understanding of its financial implications.
County taxpayers deserve greater transparency and a clear justification for how this decision is being made, what alternatives have been considered and how the proposed investment serves the long-term interests of the community.
Relocating a major economic and civic institution from downtown Frederick could carry costs well beyond the purchase or development of a new facility.

A cheaper building does not necessarily mean a cheaper outcome for taxpayers. Moving costs off one government's balance sheet, or imposing economic losses on the surrounding community, does not make those costs disappear.

We recognize that our judicial system needs additional space and modern facilities, and we support making those investments. But the County has contemplated renovation and expansion of the existing courthouse for years.
Before abandoning that approach, the public deserves a clear explanation of why it is no longer viable and what the full costs of relocation would be.

We are calling on County Executive Jessica Fitzwater to pause any plans to relocate the courthouse until a comprehensive economic, operational and financial analysis has been completed and made available for public review.
That analysis should include a transparent comparison of renovating and expanding the existing courthouse against relocation, including the costs imposed on other government agencies, the economic consequences for downtown Frederick and the long-term implications for public access to judicial services.

The decision to relocate one of Frederick's most important civic institutions cannot be made in a vacuum. It deserves careful consideration and meaningful public engagement.

The City has invested deliberately in creating a downtown where commerce, culture, housing and civic institutions reinforce one another.
We urge the County Executive and County Council to recognize what is at stake, fully evaluate the consequences and pursue a solution that modernizes our judicial system while preserving its place in downtown Frederick.
